AU REVOIR

With the Saturday evening performance of Katharine Houghton in "Sabrina Fair," The Ivoryton Playhouse marks the end of its 39th season under its original director—a record unsurpassed in American Summer Theatre. In many ways this season has been superior to many of the past several years. This season saw Joan Fontaine return to Ivoryton for the third time, as well as the second appearances of Marjorie Lord and Sherry Britton. We saw the initial appearances of several outstanding artists such as Gene Hackman, Lois Nettleton, Rosemary Prinz, and Carleton Carpenter. This week we are having the pleasure of seeing Miss Katharine Houghton return as a star in our own production of "Sabrina Fair," only four years after apprenticing here. Needless to say, we are most indebted to our faithful and discerning audiences for making such an outstanding season possible. We hope that all of you have enjoyed it as much as we have in bringing it to you.

We also wish to thank one of the most outstanding technical staffs and group of apprentices we have ever had, who handled the many complex behind-the scene phases of our operation. Already we are beginning to lay plans for our 1969 season, and we hope to see all of you back next year to enjoy another excellent schedule of plays. If you are not on our mailing list, fill out one of the cards in the lobby.

Until then, a happy year to you all!

Milton Stiefel
